Oh... I believe it's a common problem for all Redmine themes... Could you check please with another theme?

#2 - 14 Jul 2011 11:15 - Tim Lin

You are correct, Andriy. I have tried this on default theme and was able to see this problem as long as enough modules are added in. Seems like the font-size is larger in Red-Andy and so this problem could occur easier than other themes. Any way, many thanks to your quick reply.

P.S. This bug could be closed.

- Subject changed from Module sidebar will overlap project name if there are too much modules to Arrows (or similar solution) for project menu

These can be arrows as seen in Administration settings menu (e.g. Custom fields) or an arrow showing drop-down addition to the menu....

Not important for me... Not sure if others need it.
