Description
Going to drop the "Project" field in the next version...
One who needs it should install the Extended Fields plugin and add custom field "Project" of the "Project" type to the contact form.
To automate this I will provide a migration script which will check if the extended fields plugin is installed or "Project" custom field type is available and will automatically add "Project" custom field type to the contact form... That is one will just need to install the extended fields plugin before updating and run the migration script.

Maybe it will be more convinient to add an option in the settings of the plugin to turn on/off project field.

This would add just another setting... Not sure if it's good. Still planning to remove "Project" field and replace it with the extended custom field...

Of course will add a note that I did this!
