Description

Using the download button plugin with ChiliProject 3.0.0beta1 results in the wrong layout of the button as can be seen in the screenshot. Adding the line

a.download {
/* ... */
float: left;
}

fixes this issue. I checked this change also with Redmine 1.3.0 and the button is still displayed correctly here as well.

Fixed as part of the patch which implements #1860. Additionally, for ChiliProject 3.0, the attached custom stylesheet can be used such that the download button appear right below the main menu (couldn't figure yet how I could place it above it w/o JavaScript...).

This custom style makes most sense if the button is visible on all views. Hence, one needs to use your Sidebar content plugin (http://projects.andriylesyuk.com/projects/redmine-sidebar) with an empty regular expression for the "Not for URL" field. Also, one should not forget to disable the regular download button in this case, otherwise it is rendered twice.

Here a screenshot of the menu of ChiliProject 3.0 using this custom style for completeness.
