Description

I've just tried to install the subscriptions plugin and get the following error when trying to migrate the database with rake db:migrate_plugins RAILS_ENV=production:

Mysql::Error: Table 'releases' already exists: CREATE TABLE `releases` (`id` int(11) DEFAULT NULL auto_increment PRIMARY KEY, `version_id` int(11) NOT NULL, `created_on` datetime NOT NULL) ENGINE=InnoDB

I've also got the redminebacklogs plugin installed, could that be causing a conflict?

Exactly! Redmine Backlogs also uses releases table...

Thanks for reporting! Will rename mine.
