I would also like to add that I have not been able to get any of your plugins (including this one) to work on Redmine 2.1.2.

Every plugin has the "Supports" field on its overview page, where there are supported Redmine and ChiliProject versions (after ;) listed... I still work on porting plugins to 1.4.x, 2.0.x and 2.1.x. If the plugin, which has the 2.1.x version in the supported list, does not work, please fire the bug report. Otherwise please wait.

OK, I missed the ;. Sorry.
I meant to suggest that it seems that all the plugins need the same changes for the new versions. I don't understand enough yet about the Redmine/Chili plugin architecture, but if you have one plugin that is migrated that I can look at, I will mess around with the other ones myself.

Issues are not strictly the same, unfortunately... There are some common but usually there is a "bonus" or several.

This plugin has 2.x support on the overview page.
