Description Some users report issues in WordPress comments, so it would be great, if the plugin allowed to quickly import them into Redmine as issues. For this a new action link can be added, e.g., "Create issue". It would also be great to be able to link comments to (existing) Redmine issues (without importing them as new ones). Such comments can, probably, be added to issues as notes. Certainly, such notes should include links to blog comments too.
