Description
Many times I thought it would be great if text written by Orangutan would be "colorized"... This way we can highlight urgent issues, highlight important part of messages etc. Preliminary research if it is possible did not give any results. Looks like XMPP library used does not support this (rich text messages). But... Should it stop us? There is always possibility to improve things even if this is third party lib... Any help (with research e.g.) would be appreciated!
